

THIRTEEN RIGHTS—A GLOBAL BILL OF WOMEN’S RIGHTS

In my own search for meaning, this is a document I composed, feeling I needed to do something, say something, or write something. This is my ideal of what real equality would look like in a world that I wished existed but may never. The long version of this bill of rights is included in the Appendix.

The website is 13rights.com.

1. The right to vote in all elections.
2. Equal representation in the government.
3. The right to assemble and access to communication.
4. The right to education.
5. Freedom of movement.
6. Freedom of marriage or non-marriage.
7. The right to carry weapons for protection.
8. The right to own property.
9. Equal rights, pay, and access to work.
10. The right to choice of physical appearance.
11. The right to birth control.
12. The right to safely terminate a pregnancy.
13. The sanctity of our female genitals.